EDUCATION

Bachelor of Arts, Loyola University, New Orleans, LA.

HONORS AND AWARDS

2005 Emmy Award Winner: Sports Reporting:

Won the National Capital/Chesapeake Bay Emmy for a collection of sports stories. One feature exposed the American University Tennis team being cut despite outstanding achievement. After my story profiling the athletes who would lose scholarships, those who couldn't transfer to other teams the University decided to wait and evaluate the program for another year.

2004: Emmy Nomination:

Nominated for my work producing sportscasts. One cast had 10 different stories, including interviews, in a 3:30 minute segment. All well written with great video and editing.

1998: Emmy Nomination:

Nominated for an Emmy for sports series entitle 68/98. A series of stories on sporting events that happened in the Washington, DC area in 1968 and how they impacted our lives 30 years later. Such as Special Olympics getting it's start in the backyard of Eunice Kennedy Shriver and the story of a man who competed in the first games in 1968 and who was still competing in 1998.

1996: Cable Ace Nomination:

Nominated for a Cable Ace for Golf Special on Tiger's Wood's playing in the US Open as it returned the Congressional Country club in Washington DC. It returned on the anniversary of Ken Venturi's legendary victory after receiving and IV in the middle of the round because of the heat.
